FARMERS FAVOR THE SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY

If the largest and most interested gathering of farmers ever held in Claresholm is a guarantee of the sugar factory, it may be counted on as sure to come next year. The farmers not only came out in numbers but they displayed an intense interest which at times was enthusiastic. It was a great meeting and the promoters of the project had every reason to feel encouraged. The contracts for the land were not signed because the form, while prepared, has been sent to Edmonton to be registered and when it is printed the local committee will get after contracts. Three thousand acres are asked for, but it is quite within the realm of possibility that Claresholm will exceed that by a considerable amount in the first year. What impressed the farmers most aside from the advisability of growing more than one kind of product was the absolute fairness of the company. It was quite refreshing to have a company come along and offer to erect a factory and not ask some favor in advance. No bonus, no freebie, no exemption. All they ask is that the farmers guarantee to grow a sufficient quantity of beets to keep the factory in operation for the period required. They do not want to tie up capital in a building which would stand idle for lack of raw material. Farmers are not expected to grow more beets than they can handle properly and to prevent it, the company asks for information as to the facilities a farmer has for hauling etc. They won't accept a contract for 60 acres if the ability of the beet grower is limited to 25 acres. The company offers a flat rate of $5 a ton for all beets containing 16 per cent sugar contents upward. Fifteen is the lowest average. If it falls below 16 per cent the company basis he is allowed $5 for 16 per cent and 25 cents for each additional per cent. That is if his beets ran 18 per cent he would get $5.75 for them. If they were 14 per cent he would get $4.75. The company realize the labor trouble to its fully extent and at present a large number of agents are scouring Europe for families to place on land. The company will buy land adjacent to the factory and divide it into acre strips. A house and barn will be built on them and a family will be given the use of the ten acres and outbuildings on condition that they work on the farms and in the factory. The man with the large family will be preferred as the children can be employed in thinning and weeding beets.

When the meeting opened the hall was two thirds full, when it was nicely under way there was not much more than standing room. T. W. Quayle as president of the board of trade was voted to the chair on motion of Mr. Amundsen and opened the proceedings by introducing Dr. Weidmann, organizer for the Alberta Sugar Company and a man who has had large experience in connection with such projects. He started off by remarking that there are eight million dollars worth of sugar imported by Canada every year which represents fifty millions to the farmers in crops. This vast expenditure could very largely be kept in the country by the farmers cultivating the sugar beet and by the establishment of factories at suitable points. He had given reason to the territory adjoining Claresholm that morning and could say that the nature of the soil, the long day light and other conditions made it ideal climate for beets. He had seen many beet growing districts and he thought that Southern Alberta was equal to the very best. He said sugar beet raising offered large returns to the farmer and his experience on had been that where it had been gone into on a proper basis the farmers had grown to look on it as by far the most profitable feature of their work. He realized that the labor problem was a serious one. The company however would furnish the labor if the farmers asked for it. They intended going to the sugar beet countries of Europe and bringing over hundreds of families to be located in the sugar beet districts. The company's policy is to buy land near the factories and to divide it into ten acre strips, to build a house and stabling thereon and to offer it to the laborer for ten dollars a month. They would give the laborer the privilege of growing whatever he liked on the land. That is if he wanted to grow vegetables for his family table he would be free to do so. In return for this the laborer would have to pledge himself to work on the farms if asked to do so and also in the factory. The idea is to bring over Germans, Hollanders, etc. with large families so that the children could be supported by the farmers to this and weed the beets. This would place nearly all the family on a wage earning basis and put them in a comfortable position.

If five thousand acres were constructed for it would give employment to from two to two hundred and fifty families. This would mean quite an addition to the population and also to the wealth-producing possibilities of the country. Dr. Weidmann proceeding told of the becherries which the beets are paid for. If the farmer liked he could contract for a flat rate of $5 a ton for all beets raised which contained at least fifteen per cent saccharine. Or he could contract to be paid on the per centage basis starting with five dollars for fifteen per cent and rising 25 cents for each per cent of saccharine. Of course if the beet went less than fifteen per cent the rate would reduce 25 cents for each per cent. That is a fourteen per cent beet would be paid for on the basis of $4.75 a ton. The company binds itself either way. The choice lies with the farmer. The farmer has the option, until 1914, to take stock in the company. He is shown the shares for every acre of beets he raises and the company guarantees to never call for more than ten per cent at a call. The farmer may pay for the stock as he markets his beets. This privilege expires in 1914. The company weren't anxious that the farmers should take advantage of it but wished to give them the opportunity of being even more interested in making the project a success. The farmer would have one vote for every acre he held. The company doesn't ask for the farmers money and he had instructions from Mr. J. S. Dennis, the president of the company, not to encourage it too much. Once the contract is signed it cannot be changed as it is registered with the government. Speaking of the fixed price in the contract the speaker said he never knew of other prices being fixed and unlike wheat frost does not hurt the beet. That is one crop which is immune from damage from frost or hail. Speaking of the advantage of rotation to general farming Dr. Weidmann said that the average of gain crops in the European countries where sugar beets are raised is considerably higher than in Canada or the United States. That is due to rotation of crops. Urea goes as high as fifty and sixty bushels to the acre. He knew of no better way in which to introduce rotation in an almost exclusively wheat country. In concluding he said the company is prepared to build the factory. They have the money. They don't want the farmers money but they were very anxious to get his beets and for that reason were prepared to give a contract which for farmers he would guarantee would give the utmost satisfaction.

The next speaker was Mr. Henry Stewart, District Engineer, Co. who is a specialist in the locating and erection of beet sugar factories. He is with the Stearns-Roger Manufacturing Company and went over the district adjacent to town with Mr. Weidmann and local business men in the morning. He expressed the opinion that this would prove to be a most favorable district for the beet business and as he had erected factories in several states of the union as well as in European countries, and even in Persia, his opinion was worth something. He said the main question is labor and told of difficulties experienced in Colorado and other states. He said (Continued on page four.)

Meadow Creek District

Mr. Hannah the Bluebarch school teacher was out to Bible class Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Hart's. He is just from Ireland and a recent arrival.

A gripe and sore throat are frequent visitors in many of the homes.

It seems nice to see the streams running once more. The warm weather has taken the ice nearly all out of the streams.

Eggs are dropping in price. The hens are doing their part by bringing them down.

The Bible class was well attended at Mr. and Mrs. Hart's Sunday, about 30 being present. Mrs. Walter was organist and Mr. Alec Thompson explained the lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock are leaving us and their many friends on Meadow Creek are sorry the see them go. May they enjoy better health and prosper in their new home.

Spring work has begun in earnest. Mrs. Hart who has been very ill with sore throat and varicella for the last ten days, is able to be about again.

The young people had a very pleasant time at Bluebarch school house March 24, but so large a crowd as when the silver snow for the year work.

Every gentleman will be glad to hear from you regarding any cases of cruelty or neglect that may exist in the community.

The recent visit of the Dominion organizer Mrs. Hylop has done considerable towards stimulating interest and Claresholm union will give a party and a dance for the year work.

The cause of moral reform is advancing surely and much more rapidly than its enemies desire. "Dry counties are quite common in the east now and the work of agitation and education is going on, with undiminished vigor. The W. C. T. U. does not institute these campaigns but it prepares the way by its ever aggressive campaigns of education.

Supt. Uren Here

Mr. Uren, superintendent of this division of the C. P. R., was in town for a few minutes on Tuesday and met members of the council and other citizens for an informal chat as to the new station. Mr. Uren, who is one of the most approachable and genial of men, showed a blue print locating the station at Sixth avenue and wanted to know if the town is still favorable to the arrangement entered into last year. He was assured that the town is quite anxious to meet the wishes of the company and will carry out the plan to the limit. Mr. Uren said that the station is to be a fifty one and built on lands quite different from the ordinary depot. He hoped that there would be no obstacle placed in the way as it would involve delay. Discussing the probable coal strike Mr. Uren said it would have a serious effect on the business of the country. It would reduce traffic very considerably and result in a large number of train hands being laid off. The merchants in the Pass would suffer greatly and in fact the whole west. There is only one ray of comfort and that is a rumor that the International Brotherhood of the C. P. R. has a fair supply of fuel on hand and can go for some time.

Charged With Wheat Stealing

A surprise was sprung on Saturday when John Bush and Albert Poir were arrested on complaint of M. Marsh on a charge of stealing a quantity of wheat from W. T. Rigby some time in January 1909. These men are all related and apparently have been quarrelling of late, and the complaint is said to be therefor. Marsh, on course implicates himself to the limit. On Friday last Marsh was sentenced by Magistrate Tucker to 30 days for common assault, his mother being the object of his tender blows. He pleaded guilty and got the job on the stone pile at Macleod. It is now alleged that he said if he were going to jail others of the bunch were going too and he made the equal on his friends, Bush and Poir. The preliminary hearing was held Monday with Mr. W. H. Campbell of Macleod appearing as crown prosecutor and Mr. McLeod of that town as defendants counsel. The examination of Marsh was the big item of the day and filled many pages of foolscap written by the magistrate. Marsh swore that with Poir and Bush, he stole wheat from Mr. Rigby which was sold to the Alberta Grain Company and the cheque cashed at R. L. Walsh's store. The main effort of the defense appeared to be to tangle Marsh in a mesh of contradictions and prove him a perjurer. There was considerable cross firing between the lawyers. The case was remanded until Monday the defendants being allowed bail in $2000 furnished by Mr. Wilcox.

Bearing Down Pains

What woman at some time or other does not experience those dreadful bearing down pains. Mrs. E. Griffith, of Main Street, Newburgh, Ont., says: "A heavy bearing-down pain had settled across my back and sides. I was often unable to stoop or straighten myself up. Many times each night I would have to leave my bed with the irregular and frequent secretions of the kidneys and just as I was in the morning as on retiring, I was languid and would have to rest."

Nothing I had tried would benefit me. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills from Johnson's drug store.

Pills and concluded I would try them, which I did, and soon found the long sought relief. My back strengthened and I began to feel better and stronger. I now enjoy my sleep without being disturbed and feel grateful to Booth's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

Booth's Kidney Pills are a boon to women. She would know less of back-ache and sit took more of those wonderful pills. They are nature's greatest specific for all diseases of the kidneys and bladder. All druggists 50c. box or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by D. L. Reinecke.

Mr. C. E. Gaudette of Graman was in town Sunday.

Farmers Favor Beet Industry

the lengthened twilight here would prove most favorable to beet culture, and would likely result in a higher per centage of sugar content than in other countries. In proof of this he quoted results at Billings, Montana, where the average was 17 per cent sugar as high as twenty three per cent. Beets running from 12 to 15 per cent give a large profit to the farmer. He dealt with the problem of hauls and advised that long hauls would not up profits as much as wheat milking and other products. He outlined the possibilities of the development and said that a large factory could develop so as to establish cutting stations and pump the juice for twenty-five miles. Mr. Swartz dealt very frankly with the drawbacks, as well as the successes of beet raising and said that in his opinion there would be no doubt of the success of the industry here.

Local Speakers

This having completed the list of visiting speakers the chairman called on Mr. Drollinger who had considered the beet industry in the States, and was an excellent speaker and told a story which pleased the crowd immensely. His experience dated back twenty years at Lehigh, Utah, whereby the land after a short experience in beet raising went up from $25 to $10 an acre. There they were paid $4 and $4.50 a ton. He said the company here were most liberal in these offers and the contract form was by far the best for the farmer he had ever seen. He regarded it as a mortgage lifter. He said the better the cultivation the better the crop and the higher the price in the market. They were farming for dividends and in order to attain the best, must cultivate the land as highly as possible. He thought fourteen tons the acre would give a pleasing profit. He also expressed the opinion that the farmer would earn a larger dividend from sugar beets than from wheat. He advised the farmers not to contract for more than they could deliver and if the work was gone into intelligently and thoroughly and with the idea of making money he had no doubt this could be made one of the largest and best beet growing districts in the country. He said that beet does not eat beet roots and rejected with the establishment of a factory would come higher values for land, more people and better living.

Mr. W. C. Barnham was then called on and in a brief speech gave his experience which was strongly in favor of the project. He dealt with the labor difficulties and said if the company were prepared to supply that he would certainly not only go in for raising beets himself but advise all others to do so. He had known a net profit of $40 an acre to be made. At Logan where he came from the factory declared a dividend of 25 per cent the first year. It helps a community in many ways.

Mr. J. M. Workman was next introduced, and delivered an address with all the finish of an experienced platform man. He came from a sugar beet district in this country. They used to get $1.40 at the cars or $1.75 at the factory. He and Mr. Rice bought a section for $32 an acre raised beets and in two years sold the land for $75 an acre. Why did they get that amount? Because they had a profit from sugar beets sufficient to justify the rapid increase in values. That land is now worth $100. He also dealt with the labor difficulties and told of farmers making contracts with separate companies for day labor. The contracts were not lived up to and the farmer had no recourse. In this instance the company are guaranteeing the labor and the farmer will have protection. For that reason he was willing to give a fair average for beets. There were lots of things to consider and he advised them to fully understand what the change involved. The problem of hauling is a big one and he thought it would take about six tons of beets to pay expenses. Out of this of course the farmer gets a good wage for his own work. He urgently advised supporting the project.

Mr. W. T. Hight president of the Agricultural Society next spoke and said that while he never had raised beets he had lived in communities where others did. At Grand Valley Oregon, when the beet people went in the wheat farmers went into the new industry too heavily and most of them went broke. They put more ground under cultivation than they could get labor to work and trouble was the result. The next year the men were brought in, and a field expert to guide the work, and the most successful with 20 to 40 acres and in a year or two increased all the way to 300 acres when they thoroughly understood the business. If the company guarantee the labor it will save many a worry and as the farmer can go to the company and get the seed having it charged against the crop, it is a great help. He thought the industry would prove of inestimable value to Claresholm district and add much to the value of the lands. As regards profits he knew a man who had put $8000 for 80 acres of wheat land which was sown to wheat on summer fallow and had a good stand. He plowed the wheat under, raised beets and earned profits which justified his course.

Mr. Amundson, who was introduced as the man deserving of the credit for Claresholm having the opportunity of getting the factory, spoke briefly. He had no experience but growing a few in his garden every year but he said it was an opportunity which doesn't come every day and he for one was going to take advantage of it. He advised them from getting excited over it and not to go in too heavy until they understood the nature and cultivation of beets. A man with a quarter section would, he thought, be justified in giving forty acres for beets. He told something of the company which has two and a half millions at its back and they were not going to spend all that money and not get beets. He saw no reason why Claresholm could not supply 5000 acres the first year. If we did, it would mean a large factory. It is about time for the town to wake up and do something. He would gladly sign up all he could handle. Coming Mr. Amundson told of the benefit to the farmer in being able to buy the pulp of the beets from the factory at 35 to 50 cents a ton and the excellent food it makes for cattle. He said he had been asked if a farmer signs for five years and dies, or if he wants to sell the land does the contract still bind him?

Dr. Weidmann replied that the company does not hold the farmer, or his estate, under such conditions. If he sells they merely try to induce the man who buys it to go in for beet raising. It is not good for a company with large capital at stake to do other than make it as easy and pleasant as possible for the farmer. Mr. J. F. Miller of the Union bank being called on said it was the fairest proposition for the farmer he had ever heard of. The company was acting very fairly, and the land, as well as the good points were being explained. He couldn't see where there was any risk in view of the fact that the company is guaranteeing the labor. That was a big thing to know. It would do no harm to sign up, but don't go in too heavy. There is no risk in making the test. These gentlemen had the confidence to put in the money and he felt that it would be a great thing for the district. Mr. Miller expressed pleasure at the remarks of Mr. Drollinger and said the confidence of that gentleman quite confirmed him in his belief in the excellence of the scheme.

Mr. W. A. Cornwall also spoke briefly and was pleased at the enthusiasm shown. The fact of high values made him regret that he had sold so much land cheap as he did. He had no doubt as to the success of the project and if he were a farmer he would go to the limits. The meeting was then thrown open for questions and they were fired in rapidly showing the great interest in the subject. If the afternoon had not been so far advanced there is no doubt the questioning would have been kept up for a long time. The labor supply the care of the beets, the hauling, the testing for sugar content, and other questions were asked and answered by Dr. Weidmann in a most satisfactory manner. Dr. Weidmann made it abundantly clear that the company had too much at stake not to do everything possible to help the farmer and so get the beets.

The chairman in closing stated that the company have at the present hour scores of agents in Europe hunting up labor and would be able to hand pick the best of them, and the men with the largest families to place in the proposed ready made homes. He said the fact that men like Mr. Dennis are at the head of the project was sufficient guarantee to any man as to the genuineness of the proposal and he had no doubt that Claresholm district would rise to the occasion and produce the quantity of beets which would assure the largest and most complete factory in the province. It is not only possible, but very easy of accomplishment if the farmers go about it in the right way.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bowen entertained the choir of the Methodist evening was spent in music and games.

Local friends received invitations last week to the reception given by his Worship Mayor Wallace and wife of High River in celebration of the 25th anniversary of their wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anderson and Mrs. McLean, Man., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Shearer.
They had been spending the winter
at Long Beach and were on the way home.

Rev. Mr. Henderson left for his new home on Friday last. He spent the week end in Calgary and was to go to Armstrong on Tuesday. He was accompanied by Miss Katy Henderson.

Mrs. Hamblin and family who spent the winter in Calgary returned Monday night and are going to their farm in the Foothills. While in town they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs.
W. C. Bowen.

Rev. Mr. Bushfield, Methodist minister at Calgary, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday and gave the congregation great pleasure. He preached two very acceptable sermons.

The wedding took place on Saturday last of Peter Severin Johnson to Miss Ellen Paulson of Staveland. The magic words which made them one

The Scandinavian Methodists will meet at J. M. Sobys Sunday next at ing was held at John Snedstad's house which was over crowded. Rev.

Mr. Hillerud, who preached, also officiated at the baptism of Mr. Sned-stad's child.

The Claresholm Realty Company
'burned over' a farm price inside of two hours the other day. They sold the farm of T. L. Anderson near Woodhouse to Mr. Holman of Monarch for $80 an acre cash, and inside of two hours resold it to Mr. Lester of the Palouse district of Washington
for $40 an acre cash.

Local Improvement district 6-T-4 is handling the gopher poison this year and have contracted with Mr.
Reinecke for a large supply of strychnine.
Each farmer will be given an order for a supply and the amount charged against his taxes. Mr. To-well the secretary of the district is busy sending out the notices.

Mayor Milnes, Mr. Amundsen,
C. W. James, N. Holmes, Mr. Drolinger, W. Moffatt and others took the best sugar factory representatives around the district Saturday morning in autos. They were greatly impressed with the possibilities of the district. They took along an augur to measure the depth of moisture and found eighteen inches.

After the afternoon service on Sunday last at the Trout Creek school, Mr. J. A. Gravesstein on behalf of the school, Mr. Stamer replied suitably expressing the regret he felt at leaving so many friends who had so heartily supported and appreciated
the services, and expressed a hope that his successor would be able to continue the services upon his arrival

On Friday March 24 to Mr. and Mrs. Blackroby a son.

On Sunday evening Rev. R. D.
Stamer preached his farewell sermon as a rector of St. Johns church. He has accepted a call to High River and leaves on Thursday to assume his new charge. The Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Fort Saskatchewan will succeed Mr. Stamer but will be unable to come for about a month. He is a married man and said to be a successful pastor and preacher. In the meantime the church will be closed until his arrival. Mr. Stamer on Sunday night referred to his departure and thanked the congregation for the personal kindnesses. He regretted however that the church had not made more progress and said that laxity in attendance at the services and at communion were the chief cause. He criticized the tendency in the west of people not having a settled church home the result being that they supported no church.
He said it is the duty of every one to go where they get the most good and to become an active member of the church. He hoped to hear in the future that Claresholm congregation
would grow in attendance and that it would fill the large place offered it here.

The Review would like to urge on the people of Claresholm, and district, the importance of attending the cantatas to be presented on April sixth by the Claresholm musical society. The society has been preparing faithfully and will arrive at doing much to develop the musical talent of the town. They are deserving of every encouragement and a slim house on Thursday next would prove to be the most serious thing
for this phase of life in Claresholm.
Last year the society put on as fine a concert as has ever been heard here
and was greeted by an almost empty house. That was considerably more of a reflection on the people of Claresholm than it was on the society and the Review feels sure that a different story will be told this year.
This year the cantata "Esther" is to be presented. It will be beautifully staged and the chorus is not only strong, but the solo parts are being taken by the best singers in town.
A large number of school children
will also assist in the production.
The highest priced seat is 75 cents so that all can go. The farmers should bring their families into this entertainment as a means of pleasure before the busy season keeps all tied tight to the home.

A meeting of the Five Mile local branch of the U.F.A. was held at the Five Mile school house on Saturday March 18th. Mr. O. A. Finstad presiding. Owing to the absence of the secretary Mr. Ahern, Mr. T. Brown was appointed secretary pro tem.
A very good program was rendered by the following members: Recitations by Mrs. Lang, Mr. Lang, Mrs.
C. W. Ahern, Mr. C. W. Ahern, violin
solo by Mr. John Snedstad, recitation by Guy Nelson. The question under debate was Resolved that the time is come that all nations of the world should be disarmed. Mr.
R. K. Peck speaker for the affirmative rendered a very able address in pointing out the enormous loss of life caused by war and the maintaining of an army. Mr. T. Brown on the negative pointed out that all people were not civilized and consequently the greed for possession still remained. Mr. Lang spoke for the negative in a very able manner pointing out that all people were not of the same temperament. Mr. L. Torgerson spoke for the affirmative and Mr. Lang asked them if they had a plan by which if disarmament took place there would be something to substitute for arms. Mr. Peck replied that this was a very hard question about having a police patrol. Then followed the general business of the meeting. The question of gopher poison was brought up by Mr. Lang, he said he was informed that the council was intended to set aside a certain amount for gopher poison to be distributed among the farmers.
Mr. John Robertson replied that the department allowed $75 for four townships, but that not being enough
the council had not distributed any but, however, if anyone in his township wanted to get his share he could give them an order for it.
Moved by Mr. Davis seconded by Mr.
Lang that the president be instructed to order formaldehyde. Committee appointed on program for Saturday
April 18. R. K. Peck, O. M. Finstad, T. L. Torgerson on debate. Committee on program of entertainment, T.
Brown, Freeman Anderson and Guy
Nelson. Mr. Olin Nelson appointed reporter. The meeting adjourned in due form.

Chapter 26

THIS first season of the boom company was most successful. Its prospects for the future were bright. The drive had been delivered to its various owners at a price below what it had cost them severally and without the necessary attendant bother. Therefore the loggers were only too willing to renew their contracts for another year. This did not satisfy Newmark, however. "What we want," he told Orde, "is a charter giving us exclusive rights on the river and authorizing us to ask toll. I'm going to try and get one out of the legislature."

He departed for Lansing as soon as the assembly opened and almost immediately by the temporary value of the improvements good years could hardly fail to bring good returns. This it will be remembered, was a stock company. With the profits from that business the two men embarked on a separate corporation.

Orde lived at ease in a new house of some size, surrounded by grounds. He kept two servants. A butler of some degree drew the successor to the original boardroom. Newmark owned a sail yacht of five or six tons, which, quite solitary, he took his only pleasure. Both were considered men of substance and property, as indeed they were.

Immediately after the granting of the charter to drive the river the partners had differed then an opportunity of acquiring about 300,000 feet of timber remaining from Morrison & Day's original holdings. Orde finally completed the purchase on long time notes. Below the boom they erected a mill. The following winter Orde spent in the woods, his spring he had banked about $100,000.

At the end of the fifth year the opportunity came to get possession of two lake schooners. Orde at once suggested the contract for a steam barge. Toward this was the time the Orde thought that a steam barge could be built powerful enough not only to carry its own load and deck loads, but to tow after it the two schooners. Newmark agreed with him. The firm went into the carrying trade.

The most important acquisition was that of the northern portion of the firm. Most operators called the white pine along the lake from the river intractable. But Orde saw the time not far distant when the world would be compelled to use the white pine.

He and he turned his eyes to the almost unknown north. After a long investigation he purchased 100,000,000 feet. This was to be paid for mostly by the firm's notes, secured by its other property.

To Carroll, Orde was always the same big, hearty, whole soul boy who he had first learned to love. He had all his confidence.

Bobby had turned out a sturdy, honest little fellow, with more than a streak of his mother's charm and intuition.

"I want to give him all the money I can," Orde explained to Carroll. "A boy ought to start with a father left off and not have to go to the world for anything at all."

"What we want is a charter," Orde explained to Carroll. "A boy ought to start with a father left off and not have to go to the world for anything at all."

medly became lost in one of those struggles of politics not less bitter because concealed. Heitman was already on the ground. Newmark had the shadow of right on his side, for he had the charter on the basis of the river improvements already put in by the firm. Heitman wanted the improvements already existing condemned and sold as a public utility to the highest bidder. He offered the firm guarantees as to future improvements. In addition were more and more potent arguments proffered behind closed doors. Many cases resolved themselves into a hard question of cash. Others demanded diplomacy, jobs, fat contracts, business favors, influence, were all things out freely, before an absolute as though stamped with the dollar mark. Newspapers all over the state were pressed into service, among these delicate and complicated currents Newmark moved silent, cool, secret. He seemed to understand them, to play with them, to manipulate them as elements of the game.

The light outlined through most of the first half of the session. At the last, however, the bill passed the board. The company had its charter.

"It cost us plenty, anyway," Orde said when the charter bill became a law. "The proposition was a work on it. It will take us a long time to get out of debt. The river driving

"One of these men, a Canadian named Moris, went to a palatial hotel and tried to shoot him while he was engaged in shaving a customer. The bullet shaved the face of a boy, who was waiting—after a while he was very likely the lad had only dropped in for a hair cut—Punch."

"Why is it that no one?"
"Because," Orde cut him short, "the big things are for the fellow who can see far enough ahead."

"What kind of a proposition have you?" asked Taylor after a while. "I can get 10,000 acres at an average price of $8 an acre," replied Orde. "About 400,000 feet in timber."

"That's about 20 cents a thousand," Orde nodded.

"And of course you couldn't get for twenty or thirty years, and there's

"Your interest on your money and taxes and the risk of fire and—"

"Of course," agreed Orde impatiently, "but you're getting your stampage for 20 cents, and in thirty years it should be worth a dollar and a half."

"At the present time sugar pine such as Orde described would cost $2.50 to $4."

Taylor relapsed into thought. "Look here, Orde," he broke out finally. "How old are you?"

"Thirty-eight. Why?"

"How much timber have you in Michigan's business?"

"About 100,000,000. We've picked up on the river since the July purchase and 300,000,000 in the northern peninsula."

"You've got to wait twenty years to cut and make you a million dollars. Then why this investment thirty years ahead?"

"It's for Bobby," explained Orde simply. "A man likes to have his son continue on in his business. I can't do it here, but there I can. It would take ten years to cut that timber that will give Bobby a steady income and a steady business."

"Bobby will be well enough off anyway. He won't have to go into business."

"I know a man, Bobby is going to work. A man is not a success if he isn't doing something, and Bobby is going to be a success. Why, Taylor, he's chucked, 'the littleascal fills the wood box, for a cent a time, and that's all the pocket money he gets. He's saving now to buy a thousand dollar boat. I've agreed to pool in half. At his present rate of income I'm as far about sixty years yet."

CANADA CEMENT COMPANY, LIMITED.

Annual Report of the Board of Directors.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS:

Your Directors beg to present herewith the annual statement of the affairs and financial position of the Canada Cement Company, Limited, as at the 31st December, 1910.

In presenting the Balance Sheet, we call attention to the Company's strong financial position as disclosed by the large amount of cash on hand, and other quick assets, and the comparatively small amount of current liabilities. After providing for interest on our Bonds and Dividends on our Preferred Stock for the year, we have been able to set up reserves for depreciation, extraordinary repairs and sundries, and have carried forward a substantial balance to Surplus Account.

The consumption of cement during the past year was not as large as anticipated. Our business also suffered on account of the Railways not being able to meet our full requirements for cars during the heavy shipping season. Consequently, we carry over from last year $81,116 balance of cement.

Early in 1910 the price of our product was fixed at a lower price than cement had ever been sold for in Canada, excepting for a short period in 1909, but your Directors are pleased to state that the anticipated savings in manufacturing and distributing our products were such that they were able to still further reduce this price.

We trust, when you consider the above mentioned conditions, and also the fact that during 1910 our plants were only operated to 57.6 per cent. of their capacity, the profits shown will be satisfactory to the Shareholders.

During the current year we look for a larger natural demand, which demand will be stimulated by continuing to manufacture a strictly high grade article, and by selling it at the lowest possible price. This anticipated increase will enable us to operate our plants to better advantage than in the past, but we do not expect that the demand will be sufficient to enable us to put into operation either of the two plants which have been idle since the organization of this Company. However, it is confidently expected that the increased demand, and increased output, will result in further savings in the cost of manufacture and distribution, and it is the policy of your Directors to give your customers the benefit of these reductions.

The Shareholders' profits will depend on the increased volume of the Company's business, the policy of the Company being the maintenance of such a stable position as will insure maximum and uniform payments of interest on its bonds and dividends on its Preferred Stock, and at the same time be in a position to withstand any unforeseen emergency that may arise consequent on business depression or otherwise, which condition naturally necessitates the accumulation of, and the maintenance of, a large cash reserve.

It is also the policy of the Company to equalize the price of cement throughout Canada in so far as the physical conditions make such possible, and in furtherance of this policy, your Directors have arranged to purchase a site near Winnipeg, on which they will erect, this year, a mill to grind clinker, which clinker will be shipped from one of our Eastern mills. The buildings, machinery, etc., will be planned so that, should it at any time in the future be advisable, a Burning Department can be added, and the clinker produced on the property.

And further, an agreement has been entered into whereby this Company expects to acquire, in the near future, a property at Exshaw, which, added to our Calgary plant, and the projected plant at Winnipeg, will put us in the position of anticipating any extraordinary growth in the consumption of cement in the Great West.

With a view of educating the public, and popularizing the use of cement, in addition to the ordinary advertising, the Company has published a small book illustrating some of the many uses to which cement may be put, for which book there has been a great demand, 25,000 applications for same having been received during the past six months.

For the purpose of stimulating interest in the Company on behalf of the Employees, both in efficiency and cheapening production, as well as creating a feeling of mutual goodwill, your Directors deem it expedient to introduce a system, already adopted by several large industrial corporations with beneficial results, viz., to enable employees to become the possessors of Preferred and Common Stock at prices which will be attractive to them, the employees paying a fixed amount per share per month out of their earnings, and the Company carrying the stock for them, charging a rate of 5 per cent. interest. If the plan is put into effect, all dividends will be credited to the employees applying for the stock. Said stock will be held in trust for the employee for a term of five years, excepting in exceptional cases, such as death, when his heirs will receive what benefit a deceased employee has derived from subscribing to the stock.

Your Directors feel that the policy, as herein outlined, will, as nearly as possible, make the interests of the consumers, the employees, and the shareholders identical, and will insure to the most enduring and beneficial results for all concerned.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

On behalf of the Board of Directors,

WILLIAM C. EDWARDS,
President.

"Newmark & Orde became something to these fellows."

"I will pay quite so big as we thought it would," he concluded, with a rueful little laugh.

"It will pay plenty well enough," replied Newmark decidedly, "and it gives us a valuable piece of work from you. Don't suppose we are going to quit at river driving, do you? We want to look after some more timber of our own. There's where the big money is. And perhaps we can buy a schooner or two and go into the carrying trade. Newmark & Orde means something to these fellows now."

"What is it?"

"California plan," replied Orde. "California plan," repeated Taylor. "California's a long way off, and there's no market in there?"

"It's cheap," replied Orde succinctly. "I don't say it will be good for immediate returns, but in twenty or thirty years it ought to pay big on a piece of land."

Taylor laughed.

"I thought all you please," replied Orde. "But I tell you Michigan and Wisconsin pine is doomed. Twenty or thirty years from now there won't be any white pine for sale."

"Nonsense," objected Taylor. "You're talking wild."

"All right," said Orde quietly. "Well, small investment under no more."

"Indiana," cried Taylor, amazed. "There's no timber there; it's a prairie."

"There used to be. And all the southern Michigan firm built was timbered, and around here. We have our stumps to see for it, but there are no evidences at all farther south. You take your map and see how much area has been cut already."

You take your map and see how much area has been cut already. And remember, all that has been done by crude methods. The demand increases as the country grows, and methods improve. It would not surprise us if in some day thirty or forty million would constitute an average of 30 per cent or thereabouts success.

Chapter 27

N the course of the next eight years Newmark & Orde floated high on that flood of apparent prosperity that attends a business made of money and passion, and was made of money.

The Boom and Driving company made money, of course, for with the margin of 30 per cent or thereabouts success.
